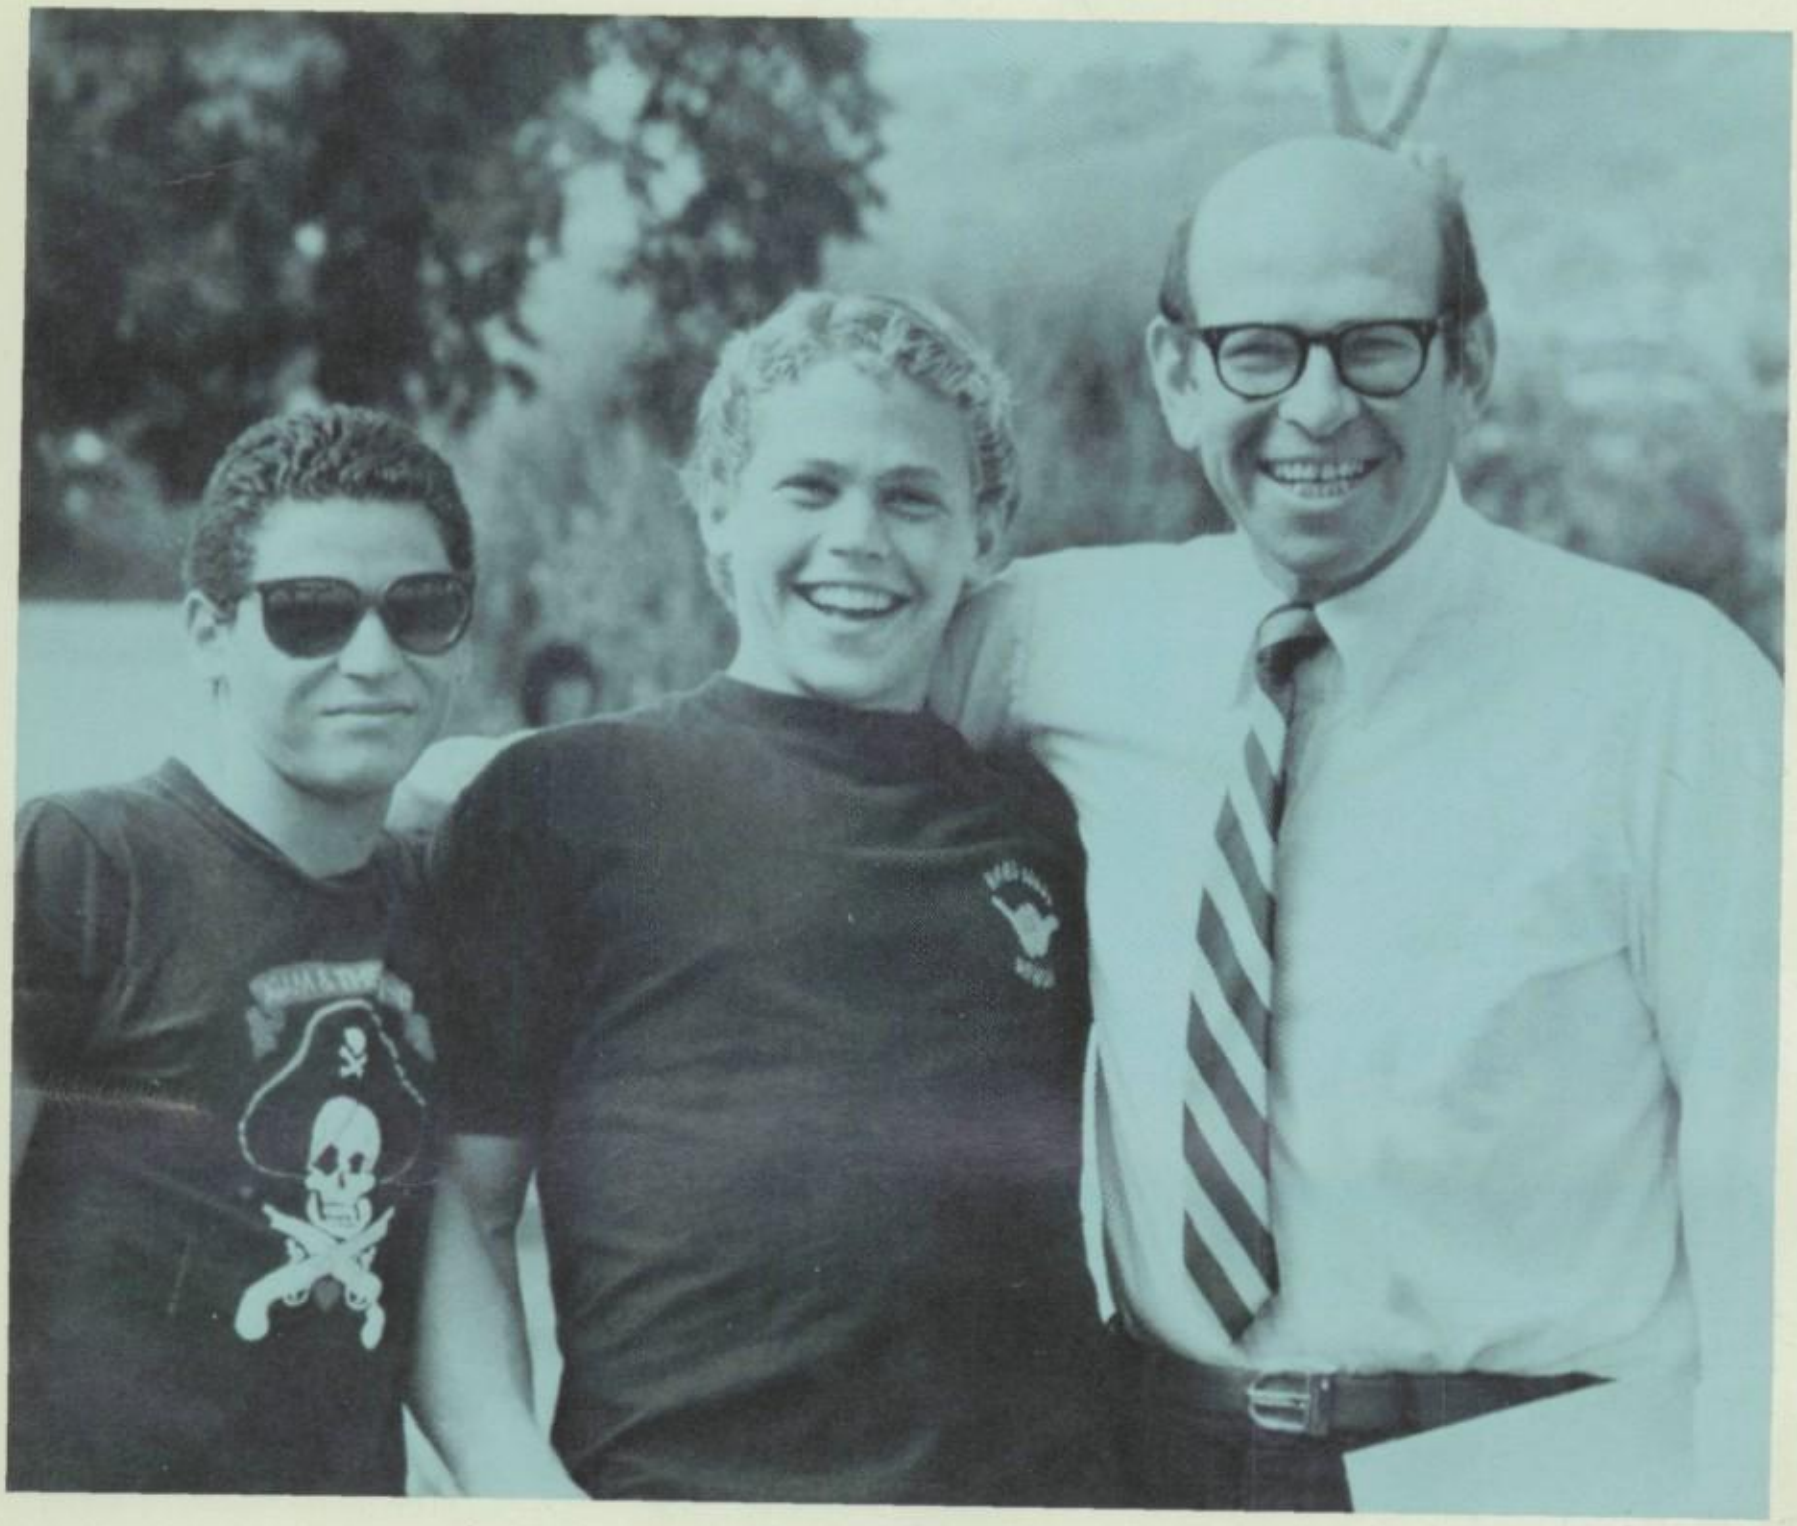
RELATIONSHIPS HELP TO DEVELOP INDIVIDUAL CHARACTERISTICS THAT ARE THE KEY TO SEEKING THE REALITY OF OURSELVES.



For the Class of '82

The Class of '82 has special qualities to meet the challenges of life. The future that lies before us is utterly unknown. We can develop strength in ourselves, resourcefulness, and general skills to deal with the unexpected turnings in our lives. The talents that I see in our students are outstanding verbal ability, pride, and outgoing personalities, thoughtfulness, the ability to stay with hard jobs, caring, the ability to deal with unknown situations and negotiate solutions, leadership, management skills—all qualities needed in the age of interpersonal communication. As I talk with members of the Class of '82, I find a clear sense of self, good listening, patience to reconcile differences and thoughtfulness to consider complex problems. The future looms before us. While most of the occupations we know will still be available, there are untold careers that are beginning or are yet to appear. Computer technology and management seem to be such fields. The people who will lead will be those who are comfortable with themselves and appreciate others and have optimism and excitement about life, who enjoy listening, who can find options in situations, who neither fight nor shrink from conflict but seek solutions to problems. In the entire structure of our society, we need to find time to consider our ultimate purposes and missions in organizations and life. Finally, people need to avoid deceiving themselves. The mind plays tricks to avoid harsh realities. People go along with a life they despise for faulty reasons. Very often, they build elaborate reasons to avoid what would fulfill them because they are afraid. Be open to all people, believe in your talents, work by learning throughout life, accept the challenges of life, enjoy your life, derive the satisfaction of loving a few people through every human crisis, have courage to risk and continue despite frustrations, care for your body, deal with the every day realities of money, obligations and conflicts. Find some spiritual center in your life that you can fill with messages of encouragement and music, seek justice and go through whatever is necessary to triumph. Make new friends and keep the old. Accept that we are all fallible human beings. The Class of '82 is very special. I believe that they have the capacity to live life to the fullest and make the world a better place and more just.

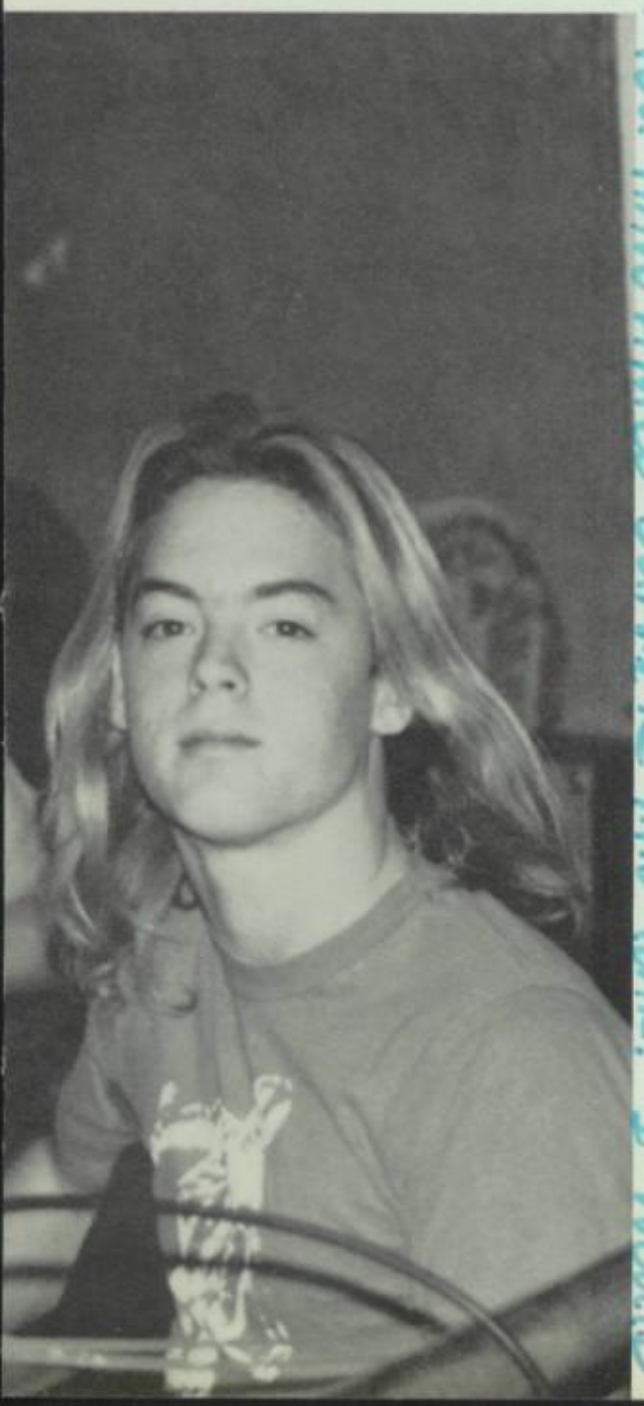
"CLASS OF 83"

In the course of our academic careers, we realize that there is more to education than math problems and history books. The ability to work and communicate with people on all levels is one of the valuable skills to be gained in the classroom.

I'D LIKE TO KEEP IN TOUCH WITH YOU IN THE SUMMER TOO. WELL, SO I'LL SEE YOU NEXT YEAR I HOPE!

Shared experiences help us grow individually and as a group. Through our interactions with teachers, counselors, and fellow students we mature and develop socially as well as intellectually.

Hi Kira! I hope that I have you in another class next year, it was fun having you in my geometry class this year. I hope that you have a nice summer. I would



At Muir, we learn together and from each other. Let us continue to be open to this type of learning as we seek and fulfill our personal and professional goals.

HAVE NO FEAR, ADMINISTRATION IS HERE.

The administration here at Muir shares a special kind of relationship with the student body. Our principal, Dr. Stanley Sheinkopf, is responsible and efficient, and these qualities were enhanced by his unsurpassed ability to get involved and to have fun. These traits can also be found in our other administrators, namely: Mr. Donald Cooke (Assistant Principal for Student Activities), Mr. Sterling Williams (Assistant Principal for Instruction), Mr. James Storms (Dean of Men, and Mrs. Carolyn Christy (Dean of Women).

Our administrators are very conscious of the numerous proud Mustang traditions and demonstrate their awareness by helping out at all of our activities. It could be the Pep Squad try-outs or the Homecoming Dance, but whatever it is, our leaders are always striving to improve the moral of our school.

The relationship between administrator and student can best be summed up in this statement by Dr. Sheinkopf: "When this will be read, the seniors will be about to graduate and I give them the fervent hope of our administration and faculty for them to have richly satisfying lives, full of meaningful friendships, full of hard work and accomplishment, full of pride in themselves and appreciation for their fellow human beings. May they always be able to return to their upbringing as a source of strength that will help them to endure through all difficulties. Nothing can ever suppress the SPIRIT OF MUIR."

EAT, READ, AND BE TIDY, FOR TOMORROW WE LEARN

We give recognition to many of the aiding groups of Muir, but some go unnoticed. The backbone of school functions was the staff. The custodians, cafeteria workers, security and the educational aides, the secretaries and the librarians are all a part of this backbone.

The cafeteria works started as early as 4:30 to prepare our breakfasts, lunches, and after school snacks day in and day out. They were not only dependable, but they also had a great blender!

The security and educational aides were one of the most important parts of the school day. They watched our cars, got us to class, kept out unwanted people, and became good friends to some of us this year.

The custodians were quick-witted and fun-loving guys. They improved restroom conditions, kept the hallways as dry as possible during the rain, and kept the whole campus tidy when a lot of us didn't pay attention to what we did with our trash.

The librarians not only kept thetextbooks in fine shape, but also kept a slough of books for our enjoyment, several volumes of encyclopedias, the Reader's Guide, many magazines, and more.

The secretaries answered the phones, scheduled events, checked signatures on our attendance excuses, sent us our grades, and tracked us down in an emergency.

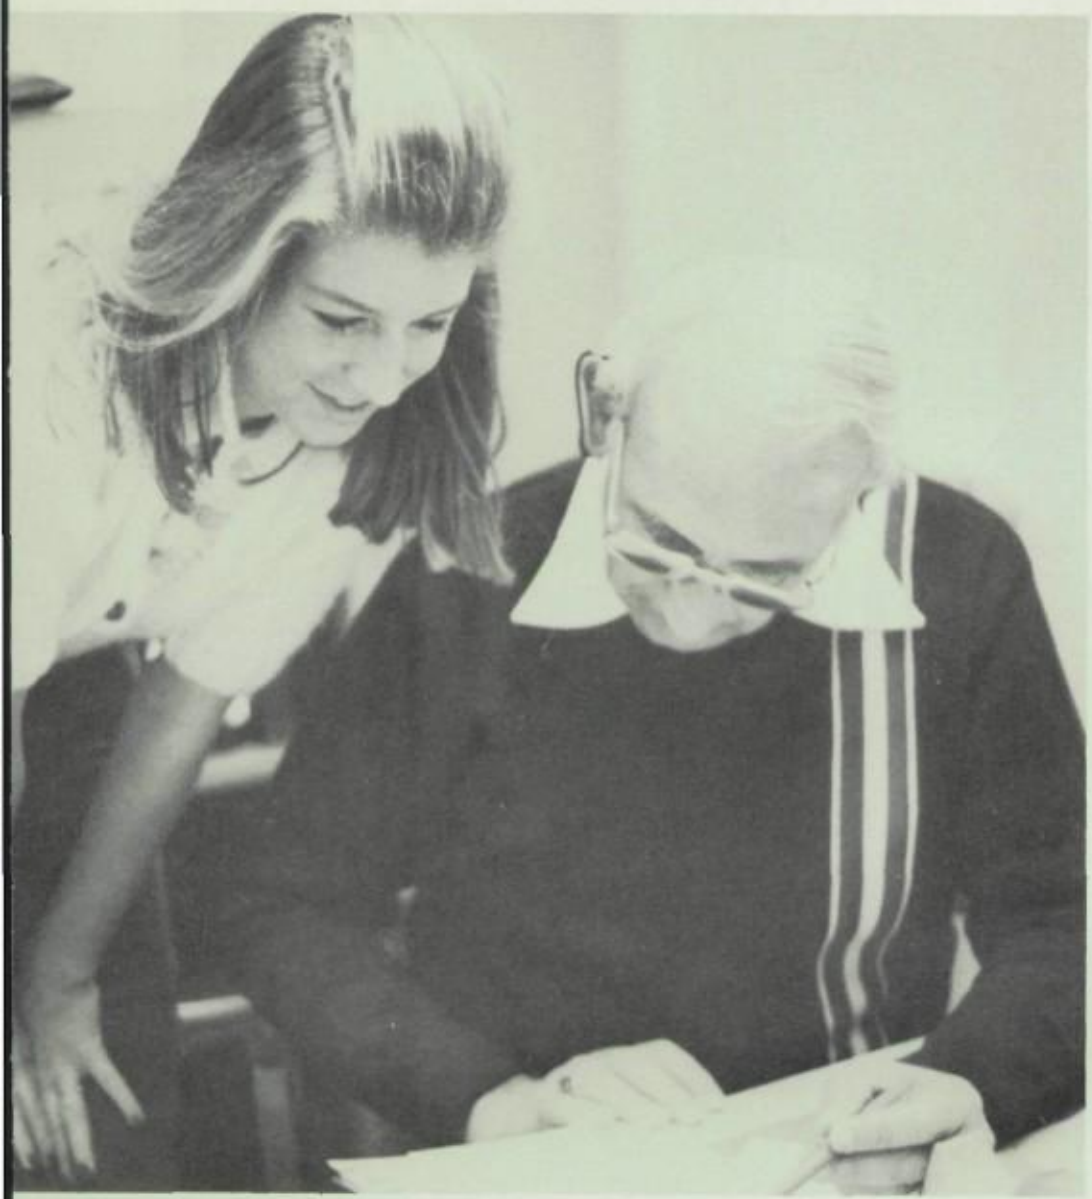
IN TIME OF NEED . . . THE COUNSELORS



In the time of need, whom did we go to with our problems and difficulties? To our counselors of course! Strength, experience, and understanding, characterized John Muir's counseling staff.

Throughout the year our counselors advised us in attaining our maximum level of academic excellence. They guided us through the difficulties of programing, advised us on college applications and intended majors, and stressed the importance of going to class when we didn't want to. Counselors Smith, and Newman were a great help with college bound students.

Our counselors put their emphasis on the individual, too. Whenever we had problems, our counselors would take time to talk to us personally and give us all kinds of advice. John Rodriguez throughout the year built many relationships due to his ability in helping students with individual problems.

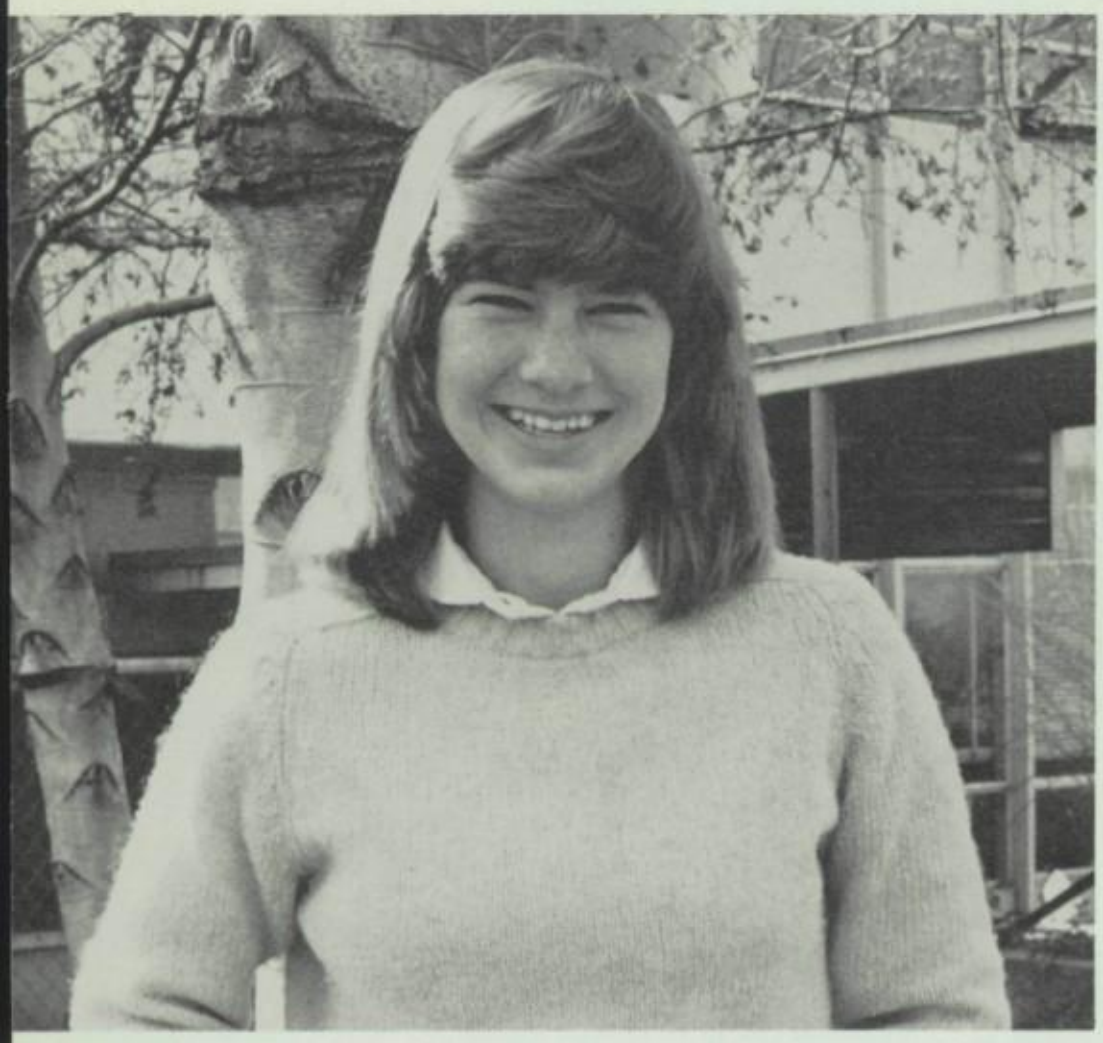
COMMISSION SUBMISSION



The publications commission was led by Ann Larson with her advisor, Mrs. Kenck. It consisted of the yearbook staff, print shop crew, blazer staff and photography crew. One of the activities they had was a seminar held jointly with publication staffs of other schools. Another activity was putting on the annual awards banquet which occurred in Spring.

The publicity commission was led by Kenneth Kitani with his advisor, Mrs. Christy. It was in charge of publicizing all of the events that happened here at Muir. Some of the ways was by changing the marquee and putting up signs around the campus.

The activities commission was led by Karen Lee with her advisor, Mrs. Lile. The activities commission was in charge of keeping the students amused. Some of the activities were putting on a haunted house, playing music during lunch and John Muir week.

The Pep Commission, led by Stephanie Smith with her assistant Jamie Walters, went through the year holding paint brushes and paint. They were the ones making all the signs for ourteams, they were also the ones in charge of the pep rallies and you could see them at all the football games.

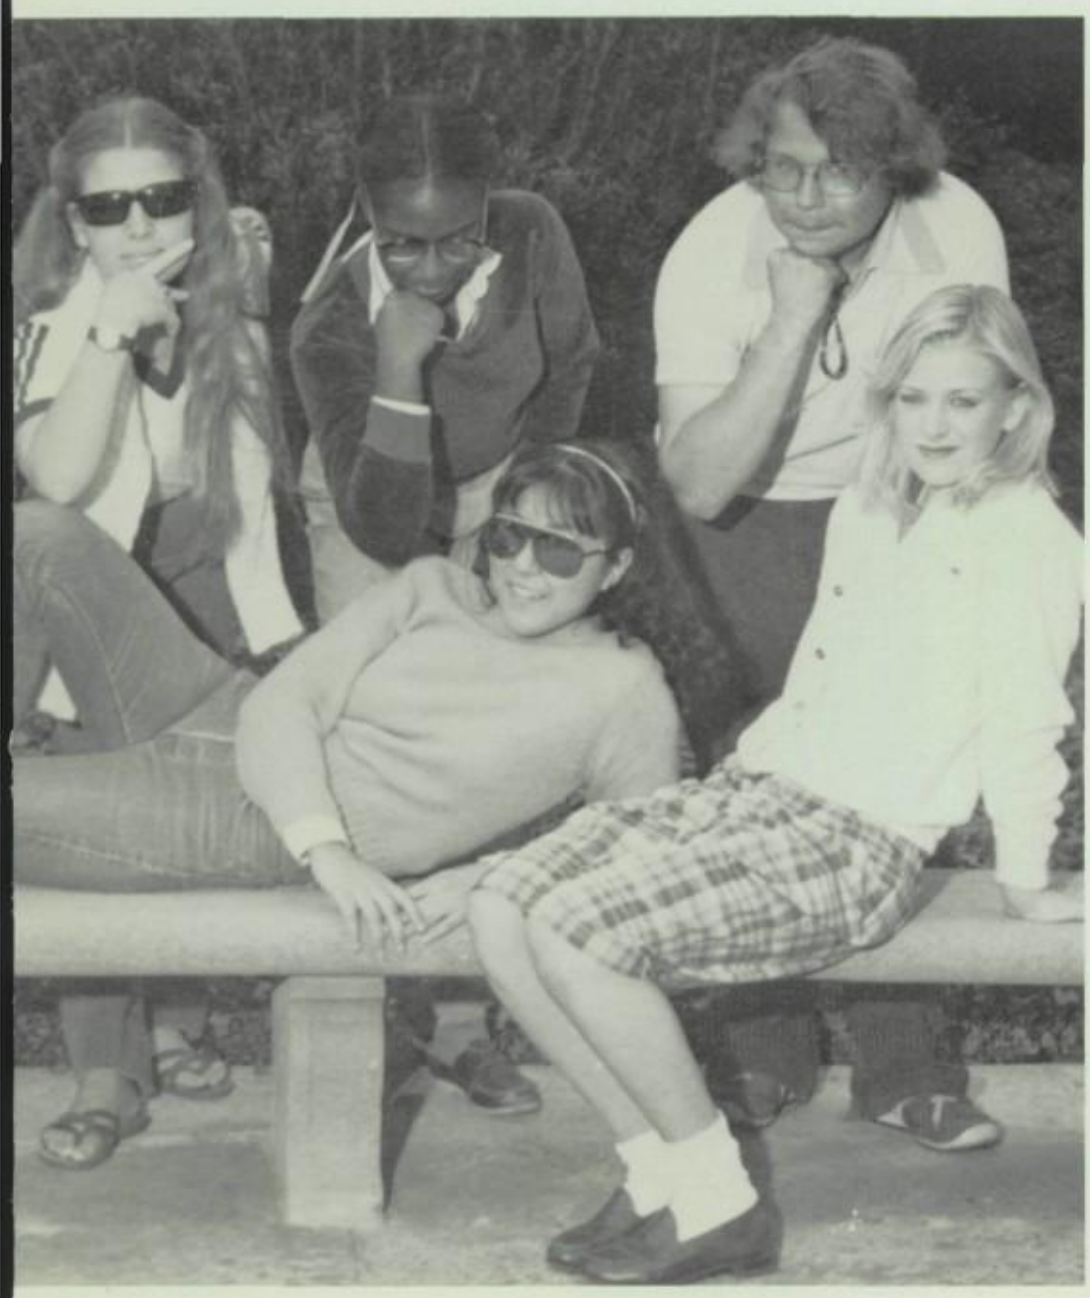
COMMISSIONS KEEP US INVOLVED



The various commissions on campus kept the school enjoyable and kept us all involved.

The Clubs Commission, under the leadership of Lisa Nishimi, started off the year with their successful Club Opportunity Day. This gave students the opportunity to ask questions and join the clubs of their choice.

The Alumni Commission, led by Carla Almore and advisor John Zweers kept our Muir graduates informed. The Commission also brought our graduates back for homecoming, a chance for them to share experiences about college and the good ole days at Muir.

Jamie Walters and the Assemblies Commission brought some great entertainment to our school. For homecoming this rowdy bunch of kids presented Flyer, and energetic new wave band. Too hip!

IMPROVED COMMUNICATION IN COMMISSIONS

Two new commissions were put into action this year. There werethe Boys Athletic and Girls Athletic Commissions. These commissions were set up to improve communication between ASB and the athletic departments. Commissioners Sean Andrews and Iantress Ransom were spokesmen for the departments in requesting new equipment and in taking inventory of existing equipment. Both commissions have gotton off to a good start.

The Civil Affairs Commission led by Stephanie Whitney continued in fine form with elections. Commission members were depended upon to carry out the tasks of class and ASB elections expertly.

The Fine Arts Commission had a busy year helping out the drama and choral department productions. The commission helped with publicity and ushering at The Miracle Worker, Grease, and See How They Run. Fall Commissioner Nina Crocker and Spring Commissioner Randall Goddard also kept members informed of plays, art shows, and music events in the community. Members held their annual car rally and visited the Renaissance Faire in May.

PICASSOS OF THE FUTURE-WORKING HARD

In the Art Department the students learned to express their thoughts and feelings under the instruction of Mrs. Talbert, Mr. Shirar, and Mr. Younger.

There was tremendous participation in the art courses. The teachers were forced to teach classes of thirty to thirty-five students and were in need of more facilities. The teachers would like to expand the Art Department so the students can learn more.

The classes worked hard but also had time for fun, too. They took a trip to the Norton Simon Museum of Art and the advanced students also were able to take a trip to the Art Center College of Design.

Through the years many winners have come from Muir and this year there was one returning winner. Dean Butler, a senior, won first prize in the Mixed-Media Contest at the Los Angeles Country Fair.

Stage Production (right above) masterfully line up to show how few people do the hours of work required to run an auditorium and all of its assemblies. Mr. Bell (below left) keeps an encouraging smile, even through the tightest of situations. A common phrase among students has been, "saved by the bell." A gathering (below right) of Stage Crew, both the educated and the uneducated, test out an old prop to see if can still hold up as it used to.

CURTAIN CALLS AND MERITS

Do you not feel organized, then join R.O.T.C. This group of students does many things that most of you are not aware of. R.O.T.C. not only presented the colors at the Turkey Tussel, but also escorted the Homecoming Court. They competed in the Loyola Marymount competition and marched in the Altadena Old-fashioned Days Parade. For fund-raisers, R.O.T.C. cleaned up the reservoirs, had a jog-a-thon, and were active in two car washes.

If R.O.T.C. does not sound right, then get organized with Stage Crew. Help them, under the direction of Mr. Bell, to put on assemblies, plays and musicals. During the fall, Stage Crew helped greatly in the Production of The Miracle Worker. As well as helping in assemblies, Stage Crew is active in the manufacturing of sets. Next time you're watching an assembly, remember the people working that you can't see, Stage Crew.

Upcoming (left) Stage Crew students still training to take the place of our current workers. This is a fourth period class and should be taken if one would like to enter Stage Production. At attention (below) members of R.O.T.C. proudly halt their daily activities to have their pictures taken. They are involved greatly in many community activities.

PRINT SHOP WORKS HARD FOR SUCCESS

A lot was accomplished in the print shop because of hard work and determination. For our school the students printed everything from envelopes and stationery to programs for plays. Along with their biggest job, the Blazer, a little work for the outside community was done. Churches asked the print shop to print programs and sometimes the students printed the P.H.S. newspaper. After school, a lot of times, the students stayed to perfect their work.

Mr. Rael, the teacher in print shop, used different steps to teach techniques and methods. Advanced students like Mark Heriot, Emmanuel Abo, and George Edgar gave help to other students.

The students worked with various machines including the "Heidelberg", the newest of all in the print shop. "Our print shop is the finest in the Pasadena School District and the San Gabriel Valley," said Mr. Rael.

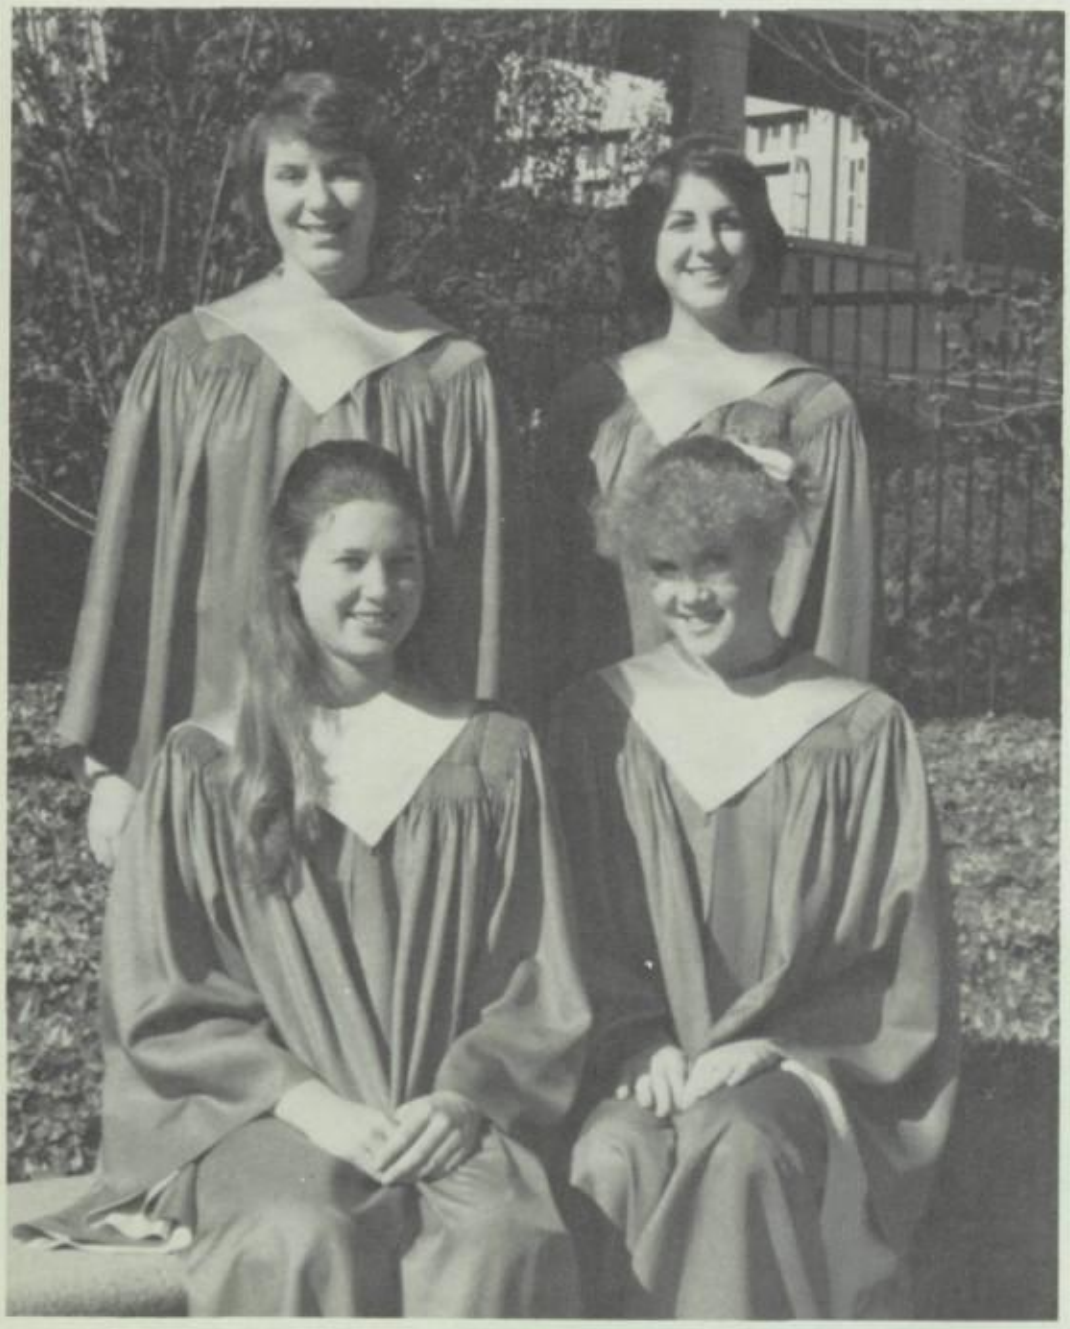
CHOIR: CAPTURING HEARTS WITH THEIR CADENT QUALITY



Again, under the meticulous guidance of Marguerite Hougasian, the John Muir Choral Department enjoyed a successful season. The department included A Capella Choir, Girls Ensemble, and the Madrigals. The Girls Ensemble, consisting of grades nine through eleven, basically served as a prepatory singing experience for those interested in singing with A Capella Choir. They performed at the Christmas and spring concerts in addition to helping the choir when needed. A Capella Choir is a specially chosen group of eleventh and twelfth graders. Performing throughout the year, they participated in the traditional winter and spring concerts, competed at festival competitions, and performed at the Baccalaureate and Graduation exercises. Their chief contribution, however, was supporting the spring musical. Additionally its officers held various fundraisers. With juniors and seniors only, the most selective singing group at Muir is the Madrigals. They had an interesting change this year, as due to a shortage of male singers, Muir's Madrigals combined with Marshall Fundamental's Madrigals. Of course the combination was terrific! Practicing on their own time after school, this group performed formally throughout the community at private parties and community functions. It's obvious to all that Muir's Choral Department is the pride of the school.

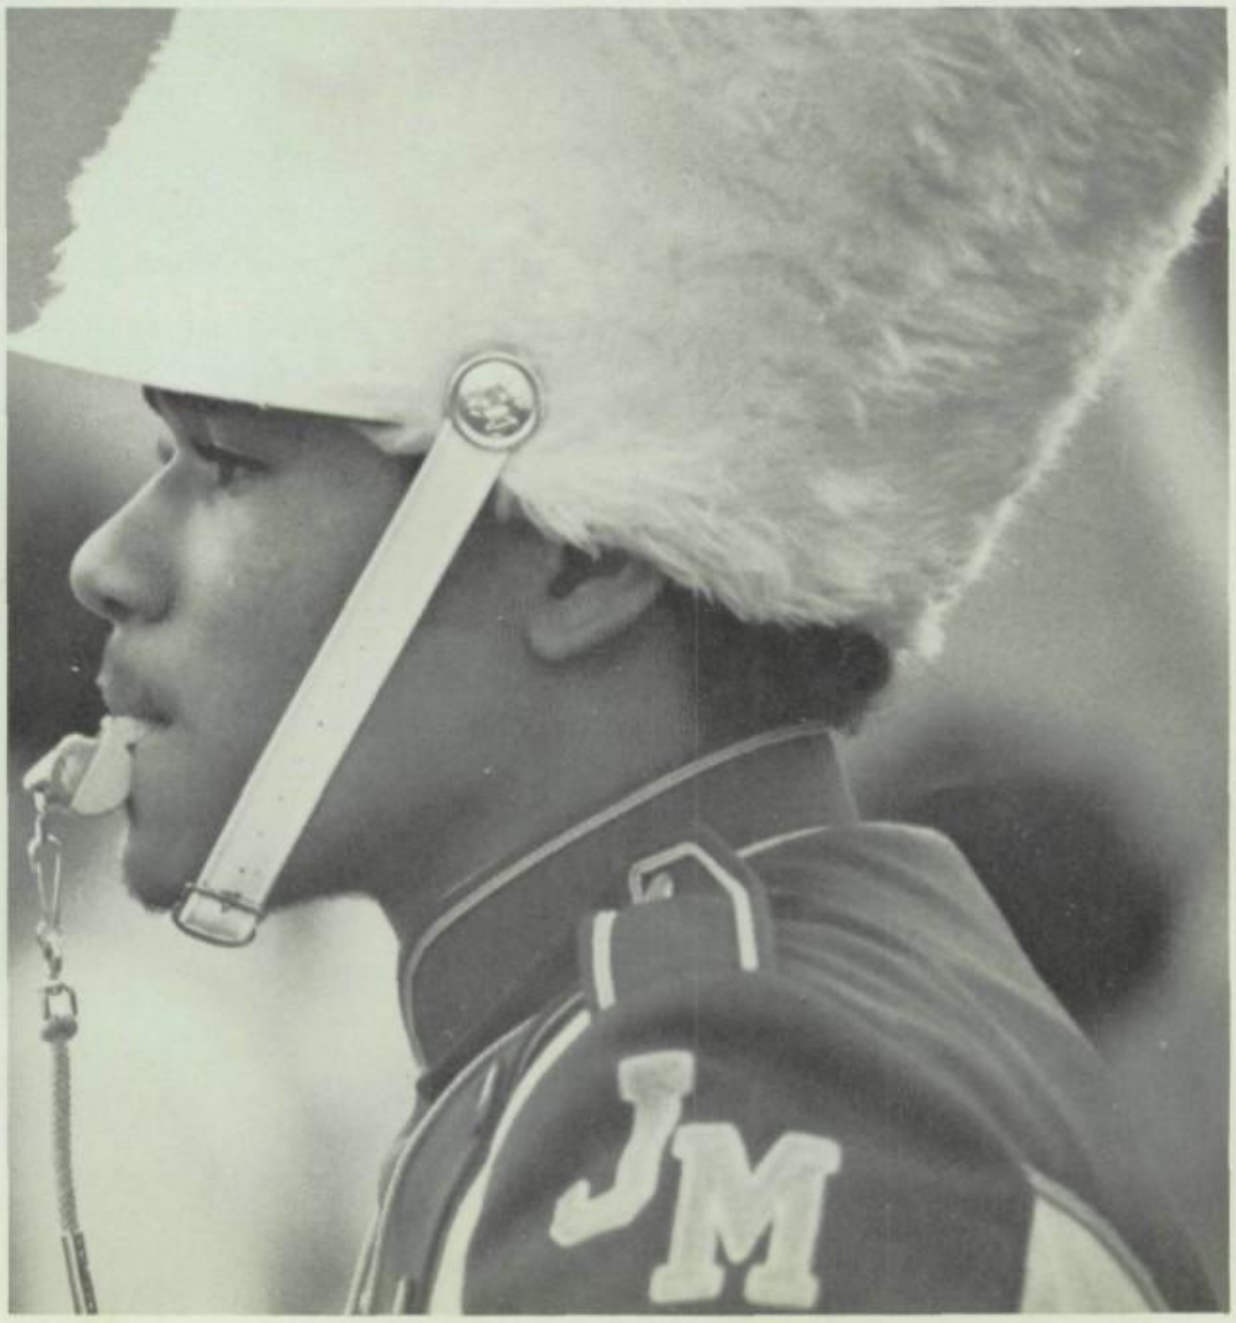
NOTES ON THE MIGHTY MARCHING BAND

Rising up at 6:30 in the morning to march around a wet field requires a great amount of effort. To play a musical instrument at the same time requires dedication. Our Mighty Mustang Marching Band followed this routine with the same spirit it has always been known for.

Under the baton of Richard Meyer the band and tall flag excelled in both performance and competiton. This was Mr. Meyer's second year at Muir and his guidance seems to typify why the band succeeded in so many of its achievements. The seventy member band, led by Drum Major Steven Daniels, was larger than previous years ard included more freshmen. This point makes for a very promising future for the band.

"This year's band excelled because of many reasons. The brass section and the long practices, . . . everyone really threw it together in a clutch." said Steve. In preparation for the Glendale Parade the band members marched some three miles. It paid off because they took first place, class A in the competition. Additionally, the band stood up well in the Palmdale Parade and completed its second year performing at Disneyland.



HARDWORKING, ENTHUSIASTIC AND TALENTED

Those were the characteristics of the orchestra. Although this diverse group was relatively young, they had lots of musical talents. The skilled members were able to write music for small groups. In March, they had a retreat to work on music.

In his first year directing the orchestra, Mr. Meyer found it exciting and fun. The students seemed to get along well with him and he enjoyed directing them. He felt that the orchestra was on the upswing and that it would continue to grow in number.

In terms of talent, the group was very well balanced. There wasn't a big gap between the first chair and the last chair person. Many of the students played in a group called the Southern Honor Orchestra. The group was comprised of the best young musicians in Southern California.

The orchestra had three major concerts. There was a Fall concert for the Booster's, as well as a Christmas and Spring concert. Many people don't know that this largely unrecognized organization is the second largest performing group at school.

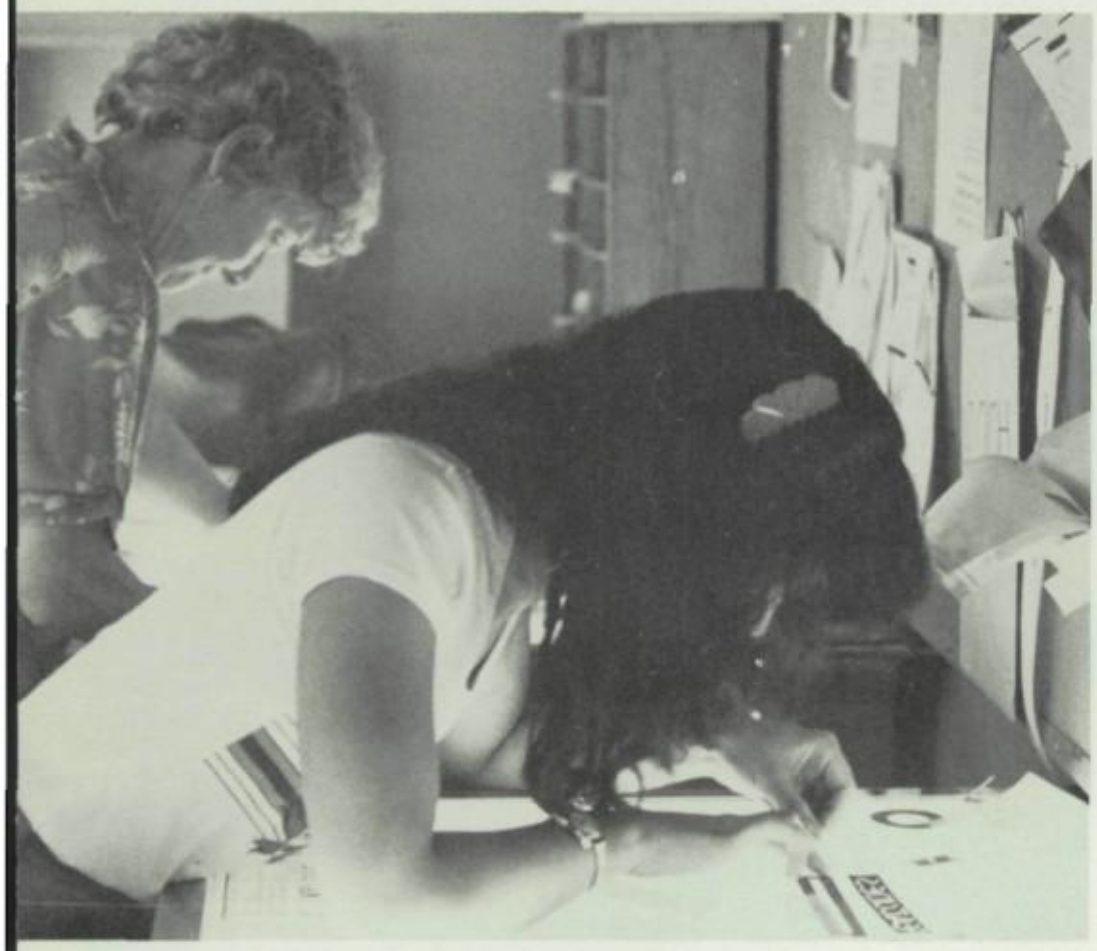
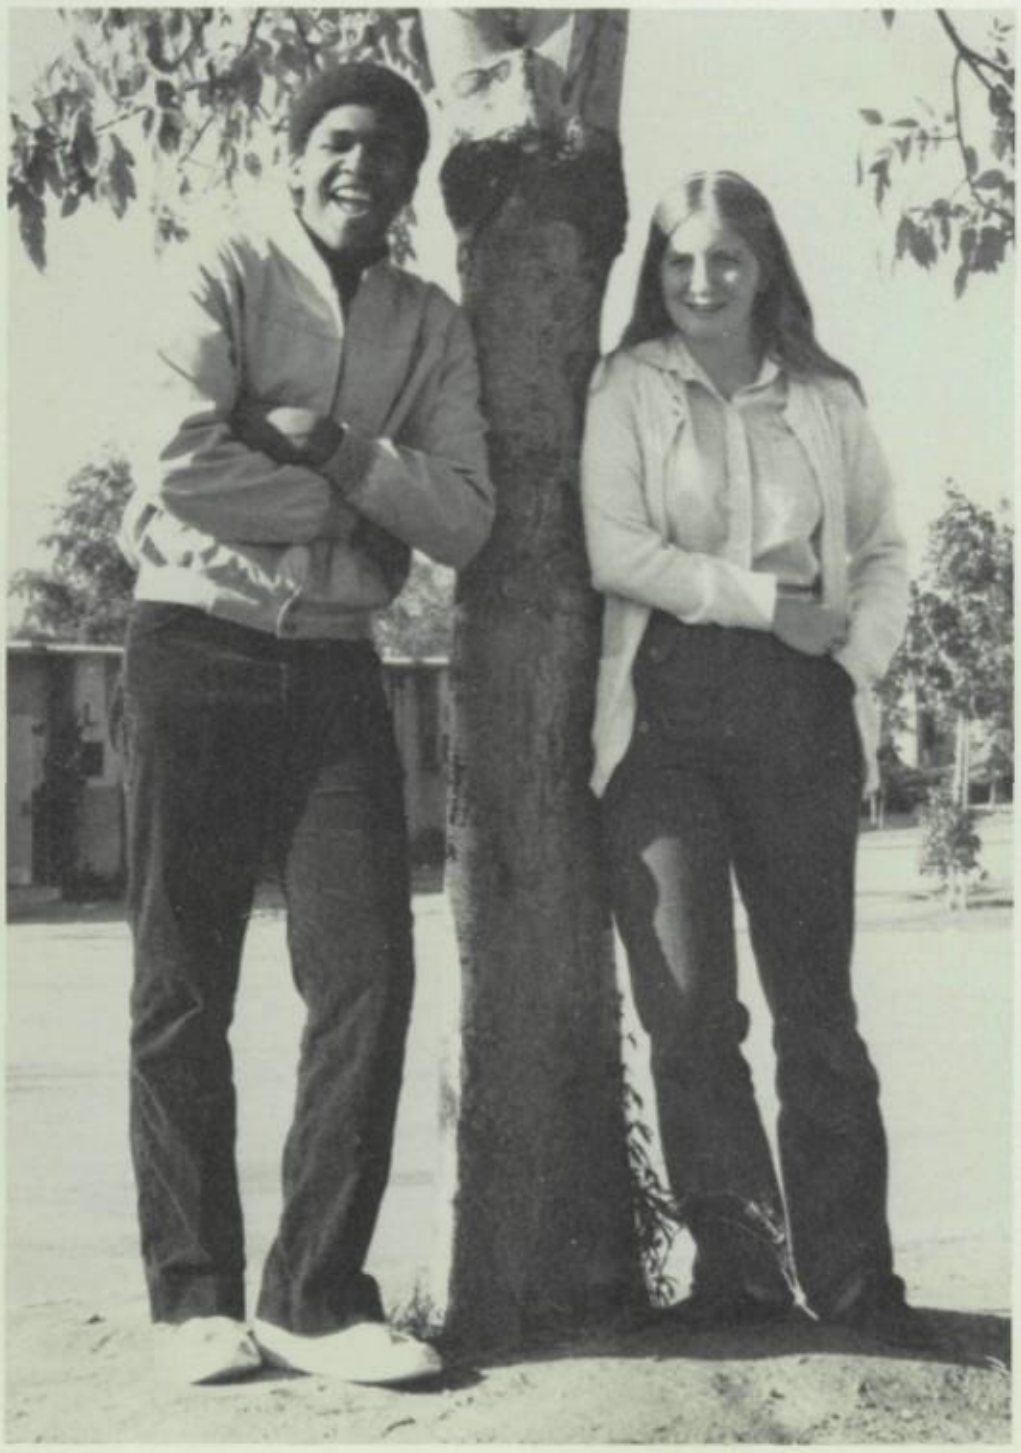
BLAZER EDITORS SHOOT FOR NEW HEIGHTS





Even though the year started out rough for the staff and editors of BLAZER, they were able to come out with a very successful and fun season of papers. The team wasn't hampered by the smaller staff or by the lack of BLAZER editors, led by LaMonte Westmoreland and also Beverly Speakman, concentrated on covering new fields, other than just those having to do with the school and its activities. They dealt with more controversial issues and informed the student body of what was happening in the community as well as in the school.

Such sections as Opinion and Features gave perspective to hot issues and the latest in pop, funk, rock, and new wave in such columns as the Muir Forum. The News and Sports pages continued with their great coverage of all activities in the school and in the community.

The circulation of the publication was greatly broadened this season with issues going to over three thousand students and teachers. It was also circulated to colleges, other high schools, and even radio stations.

For the first time in its history, the paper made personal ads available to the students. Some other changes that were brought about were the addition of several special issues, some of which included color pages. These covered such events as homecoming, Christmas, and New Year, spring vacation, and graduation.

One setback for the crew of BLAZER was the announcement that the journalism classes would not count as English credit. But this didn't stop them from running the presses and providing us with one of the most informative publications around.

Through the cooperation and togetherness of the staff, editors, and the advisor, Marge Kenck, BLAZER made one of its most difficult years into one of its most successful and satisfying of all.

6 STEPS TO BECOME A PRO PHOTOGRAPHER

1. Know what f-stop, depth of field, ASA number, and other terms mean.
2. Learn to manipulate the image using local controls.
3. Attend almost every school event.
4. Dodge incoming defensive linemen.

The previous steps are not unfamiliar to members of the Photography Production class. Not only are they applied but are used often in achieving great photographs. The adept staff of twenty-one students are a select group skilled in their used of the camera. "More experience and a large staff gives us an edge on our assignments," said Tim Turell, the Production head.

With the aid of advisor (and ace photographer) William Stanton, the class worked diligently in the task of taking student I.D.'s, both here and at Eliot Junior High. In addition, they are responsible for the pictures shown both on these pages and in BLAZER, the Senior of the Month pictures, and photographing the nominees for the Homecoming court.

A great learning experience was found by the students which, said Mr. Stanton, "were consciencious, enthusiastic, and interested in building up the photo production program and giving the best services possible."

PEP BAND PERKS SPIRIT

What is the group that has talent, color, rhythm, enthusiasm, and organization all in one? It is the John Muir High School Pep Band! This devoted group's purpose here on campus is to provide the student body with the beat to keep the pep rallies and football games exciting.

The pep band has expanded to eighteen members which include more girls and freshmen who really have the potential of showing spirit for the next couple of years. Each member is also committed to the marching band. With rehearsals for marching band, pep band, and their many activities, they are always busy.

In addition to their activities on campus, they shared their wonderful talent elsewhere. At Halloween, they performed for Roosevelt and Franklin and at Cleveland's elections.

Besides the traditional tunes, the pep band introduced some new selections such as "Fame," "Our Lips are Sealed," and "Birdland." Also, the group composed some of their own music.

With Steve Daniels as the proud President and Bud Renzullo as the Vice President, the pep band maintained their tremendous reputation.

WHO'S GOT SPIRIT? J.V. DOES!

At last, here are the girls you've been waiting to hear about- the 1981-82 Junior Varsity Cheerleaders! This group of six sweet and peppy girls were an exceptional part of our pep squad. The girls could be seen all over campus at rallies, homecoming, football games and at other J.V. activities.

This group's greatest asset was their ability to work together as a team. Long, hot summer days spent practicing new routines were typical. At Hibbards Cheerleading Camp, they received three first place awards in competition. The girls showed us that hard work and the will to be the best made this possibly the greatest J.V. squad in Muir's history. One could tell this by the precision and ease seen in the performances of their routines. They surely did a superb job.

GIMME A "M"

When you finally round up all the Varsity Cheerleaders and try to calm them all down, which isn't easy, they're very organized. These six girls knew exactly which cheer, move and which words to use to get a fabulous squad.

From "Raise your Hands" to "Gimme a M", the cheerleaders burst out with songs, cheers, and routines that showed spirit in their souls and spread spirit through the stands. Everyone learned the words and sang along with these chicks because it was a fun part of the games that not only showed their blue and gold pride, but also got them involved in the game.

Cheryl Cauley, Rigolea Fhobir, Denise Park, Iantress Ransom, Robin Washington, and Jodi Watkins have gone through a lot of stress this year, like Brid'jette Thompson having to leave early in the summer. But it all seemed to pay off. During camp last summer this squad brought home two first place ribbons, three second place ribbons, one third place ribbon, a trophy for first place in spirit, a second place trophy for competition, and, of course, the Spirit Jug! So when you heard these coochy girls cheering the crowd on to victory, it wasn't just a bunch of hot air.

FLAG GIRLS: A SUCCESS STORY

In the past, John Muir's Flag Girls have had a reputation of being sexy and unpredictable. Lisa, Cindy, Karen, Molly, Rachel, Pam, Jill, and Lynn were no exception. Since April of their Junior year, they worked hard to uphold that reputation. Being on Pep Squad was a new experience for each and learning to adjust was sometimes hard.

During summer, work and vacations often came before practice which caused disputes and aroused frustration. But once the need of responsibility and togetherness was realized, success was the only outcome.

In every Pep Rally, the Flag Girls kept the crowds high spirited and cheering. Routines performed to "Head" and "Time Warp" proved the Flag Girls to be unpredictable once again. Tradition was at its best when they sensually "Boom-chicked" down the aisles to the stage and performed "Stripper." Strong spirit was shown by the 'Flaggies' during Football season as well as all other sports.

Being a Flag Girl was challenging. They worked hard to be the best and to uphold the tradition. Their Flagship will be remembered throughout John Muir.

Pam and Jill (left) try to put their hip joints back into place. Which of these girls (top center) does not qualify for the "truly snooty" award? SONG GIRLS HAVE CLASS

A goal that came true was, "Learning how to work together as a team." Their summer was spent practicing and winning a first and third place trophy at Hibbard's All American Camp at Loyola University. Their last year at school was spent showing pride and spirit. Dedication, devotion, and determination helped these girls become the best squad possible.

Because of technical difficulties, all tape recordings of songs for new routines were cut out, but not before a great one to Rick James' "Super Freak." To make up for that, these six seniors added new moves to the old traditional routines creating a more exciting atmosphere.

At Halloween pep rally, our spacy song girls flew in as way-out martians to the tune of "New Toy". At the game that night, they were still dressed in their flashy green outfits.

Sometimes working together as a team was hard, but all in all, the Song Girls found all the trials, time, and money well worth it.

OUR PRIDE IS SHINING THROUGH

Hours and hours of practice, knowing every routine backward and forward, and alot of time is what it takes to be a member of the John Muir Tall Flag Squad. With everlasting enthusiasm the girls, led by their trustworthy captain Gretchen McGruder, marched in the early mornings before school. Many hot summer days were spent making sure their routines were polished to perfection. At the homecoming game they showed off their classy white rails and shiny gold flags. 1981-82 was one of the best years ever for our super Tall Flag girls.

With only one year behind them, the Drill Team did so well that a large number of excited girls were eager to try out. Their routines were always fresh and alive with the spirit. No matter what the beat of the music was, they could handle it. Marching with precision and heads held high, they showed the world (especially P.H.S.) what we already know, John Muir is the best.

IN TIMES OF NEED. . .

Eight years old and Muir's silent service, the Colour Guard is an organization that receives little recognition in the public eye. However, this group provides free security at football games and various events, such as Alumni and Christmas Tea, Sr. Class Magic Show, and plays put on by the Drama Dept. Led by Commander Kenneth Ridnour, they practiced their shooting at a local rifle range and entered the annual Old Fashioned Days Parade in Spring. A drill competition was held amongst themselves and the honor was bestowed on Bud Renzullo for best overall marching.

Another group that provides much service to the school as well as the community, is the Red Cross. President Carmen Barcelo reported that the Blood Drives in December and April brought in over 100 pints of plasma. They went to Fairwood Convalescent Hospital monthly to give birthday parties and perform skits for the old people. At Sycamore Home, parties and games were given to get the young men there involved in some activities. In May, the Red Cross coached handicapped persons in the Special Olympics. For fundraisers, members collected donations, and t-shirts, designed by Grace Okida, were sold at the Faire.

PLAYERS, DRUMMERS, AND PEER COUNSELORS

The Continental Players were back again, bringing the social entertainment stronger than ever. During the year president Ronski Pace, club members, and advisor Archie Newton organized dances and parties, and planted a tree for our school.

A new club came about this year, the Drum Section. When the drummers in the band wanted to form a slow section, band leader, Mr. Meyer said no! Under the leadership of Zeke Hudson and Don Bradford the drummers boycotted the band. Mr. Storms negotiated the matter with Mr. Cooke and the Drum Section became a separate organization with Mr. Storms as advisor. With practice almost everyday they soon became one of the most popular organizations on campus.

Another new organization, Peer Counselling-Career Vocational Exploration, appeared on campus with great student response. With the instruction of Aljean Ivory the students obtained skills in helping their peers deal with problems and they became more aware of themselves.

UNDER THE SUN

Both the Ski and Surf clubs had quite active seasons. The Ski Club, under the direction of Mr. Barnes, went about twice a month to Snow Summit. Here, they stayed in a two story cabin. The cabin has room for thirty people, but the average turnout for a trip was thirteen.

Steve Porter, the treasurer of the club, planned a Utah trip. The agenda allowed five days of skiing at Alta, Snowbird, Brighton, and Solitude.

Traditionally there are two water ski trips taken a year. In the past they have skied at such places as Lake Havasu and the Colorado River.

Another organization on campus is the Surf Club. This group however, spends most of its time off campus. Trips to the County Line, above Zuma Beach, were taken in spite of this year's poor surf conditions.

Searching for larger waves, the Surf Club tended to head south. In sunny Mexico, they stayed at advisor Stellern's house in San Miguel. Most of the time the trips to Mexico only involved eight of the fifteen people in the club.

TO COIN A PHRASE "AFS IS GREAT

"Philatelist, noun, one versed in philately." "Numismatist, noun, a specialist in numismatics." What? Well it simply means a guy who's into stamps and coins, and this is true about every member in the Stamp and Coin Club. During a meeting they show off stamps and/or coins and trade them. When they trade they are never picky or choosey; they can have fun from swapping 1900 vintage coins to exchanging recent 1980 stamps. Oh, by the way, if you went into the club without knowing what philatelist and numismatist mean, I'm sure the members would not care.

AFS . . . AFS? What does AFS mean? You mean to say you don't know? Well I didn't either until I found out it meant American Field Service. Now what does AFS do? Now let us see. AFS helps bring over foreign students to the U.S. for a year and allows U.S. students to go to foreign countries for the same amount of time. The AFS Club on campus did some really interesting things this year, such as helping to decorate a float. No, they're not going to go over Niagara Falls in a decorated barrel. The float was built to show the good relationship between Canada and the U.S., and it appeared in the 1982 Rose Parade.

Dobrin asked not to have this picture included, bu then that's her tough luck, huh? A meeting of the Conservation Club (middle right), though supposed to be planning a hiking trip, the members seem to be caught up in their own thoughts. Actually though they really were planning a trip to the mountains. Just thought I'd add a little twist to an otherwise boring caption. Mr. Navarro (bottom left), the advisor of the philosophy club, suggests an important topic of conservation: Freudian vs. Skinnerian Psychology. And that's all we have time for in this week's "The World of Captions!"

BOUNDING OUTWARD WITH FRENCH AND GERMAN

Taking a foreign language can be a trying experience. But when one is a part of a language club, its cultural activities and excitement to what might otherwise be tedious curriculum and learning.

The members of the German Club were extremely busy this year. During Homecoming Week, a baking party was held to make Lebkuchen and Apfelkuchen to sell at the fair. Afterwards they feasted on a German luncheon prepared by Holstien's German deli. They hosted a Christmas Party with the South Pasadena H.S. German Club where they tasted German Stollen, a sweet-bread, and lighted traditional advent candles. In February, the German students took the National German test. A trip to Alpine Village for shopping, dining, and dancing ended their eventful year.

The French Club, basically a group of interested students from Mrs. Jones' third and fourth year French class, was not as active this year as in the past.

Early in the year the French students attended a French camp up near Big Bear. Every month they attended an Alliance Francais which is a meeting for anyone interested in the French language. They shared in French food and drink afterwards. At the end of the year, they attended a French dinner at L'Hermitage.

Outward Bound Adventures is a relatively new club at Muir, but has been a nationwide organization for many years. During the summer, members can go on long trips to learn to work and complete tasks separately and in groups. Such as learning to climb a mountain, or scaling a ten-foot wall. During the school year, members can go on walks and hikes that are serious, yet fun. "We are relatively small at Muir," said several members, "but we're growing."

STARTING THE YEAR WITH TACOS AND WON TONS.

There are many clubs on campus which promote awareness and understanding. One of the clubs is the Asian Club, under the leadership of Margaret Fujitaki. Asian Club started out selling Won Tons at the Homecoming Fair. Afterwards they sold Smokehouse Almonds. All the money they made went to their annual banquet. The club also went on trips. One of the trips they went on was to P.C.C. for the Asian Awareness Week Assembly. Although the club had few members previously, the membership is slowly growing with close to twenty-five members.

El club Latino Americano empezó fabulosamente su año, vendiendo tacos en el Homecoming. Bajo el cargo de Sara Treto, como presidente, y el resto de la mesa directiva, ellos estuvierson ocupados vendiendo "candy apples" y recaudando una gran suma de dinero para el club. El dinero que ganaron fué para su baile anual de la coronacion de la reina que se llevó acabo en la cafeteria de la escuela con ocho muchachas en la corte, una de ellas escojida a reina, Patricia Becerra, quien reino el baile toda la noche. Agradecemos muy especialmente a Mr. White un fantastico consejero y maestro. El Club Latino Americano tuvo un ano sensaciónal.

BSU AND MECHA GET IT TOGETHER

Culture on our campus can be seen through two outstanding clubs.

This year BSU has re-established itself on campus. Members of the club have maintained good grade point averages and have concerned themselves with self-respect as well as respect for others. One of the main events for BSU was the assembly in which they paid tribute to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. During the month of February, BSU devoted most of their time to Black History week and in honor of St. Patrick's Day, BSU held their annual Pickle Festival in March.

Another club which added a little culture to our campus was Mecha. At the Homecoming Faire, Mecha had their annual taquito sale in which they always made a huge profit. One of Mechas well known events was the Cinco de Mayo Festival in which they select a Queen and a court to reign over the year.

Z KEY TO SERVICE IS KEY AND Z

Fall President Stephanie Thornton and Spring President Christy Brooks led Z Club through another successful year. Sponsored by Zonta International since 1956, Z is one of the oldest organizations on campus. The members of Z are all dedicated to serving Muir and their community. Advisor Cammy Tosney made sure that this year was no exception. During the hot summer months, Z followed tradition, joining with Key to paint the M-Quad. Other Key-Z activities included the annual Christmas Party and Caroling. In October the club set up the Boys' Club Haunted House and also worked at the Pasadena Oktoberfest. When the holidays rolled around, members were busy with Christmas-Grams, decorating the Zonta float for the Rose Parade and setting up Christmas Tree Lane. Though Muir Spirit runs strong among Z'ers, one goal of the girls was to participate in more activities with the Z Club at PHS. They worked toward this goal by volunteering at the Kidspace Museum with their sister Club from across town.

For the past five years or more, John Muir's Key Club has been rated among the top ten Key Clubs in all of California, Nevada, and Hawaii. That's a pretty incredible accomplishment for most clubs, but not for ours. President Steve Pugh got things moving quickly. A few members volunteered as counselors at Camp Cortines for handicapped children. Key Clubbers took part in the Y-Little Braves program and went to Roosevelt School to tutor the students every Monday and Wednesday.

Dedicated members could be seen at our home football games selling "terrible towels" or game programs while at basketball games they ran a concession stand. One of the Club's most significant projects this year was the Red Cross Blood Drive, which resulted in more than seventy-five pints of blood donated. Along with their dedicated service to Muir and the community, the Club found time to enjoy themselves. The Key Club Car Rally was one such time. Advisor Ken Montoya kept the club moving in the right direction and Club sweetheart Kris Starman provided friendship, support, and enthusiasm.

HISTORY OF

SERVING YOU WITH A SMILE

There are several service clubs on campus and two of the most hard working clubs are "S" and Interact. The members from both groups devote their time and effort to help improve the school and community.

"S" was just as helpful this year as any other. With Fall president Ann Larsen and Club Advisor, Marilyn Stalder-Burke, the club began the year with a Bang!! Service projects ranged from being Halloween ghouls at a local Boy's Club to pasting petals on the Rose Parade Floats. One of the highlights of the club's events came during the spring semester, when the members hopped around through the classrooms delivering Eastergrams.

Interact began the year with quite a number of changes. Mr. Barnes became the new club Advisor, and with Fall president, Steve Gillett, the club pulled itself out from their recent slump. Stricter attendancy policies reduced the club in members, but produced a stronger more hardworking club. The annual Christmas Tree stringing found Interact members out on the lane for four weekends in a row and New Years brought floats to be decorated. Over this past year Interact has proved itself to be a very solid and worthwhile club.

FALL A.S.B.
MEETING ITS CHALLENGE;
TAKING THE UPPER HAND

As A.S.B.'s fall President, Dan Stuart, rightfully said, "This year's cabinet was probably the most aggressive group that John Muir has had in years." The truth of his statement became more evident in view of the goals A.S.B. set for themselves and the school.

Their first and main commitment lay in increasing communication between A.S.B. and the student body. Dan attributed their goal to the cabinet's rather extraordinary cross section of student representation, who were not, as he said, "... just M.G.M., exclusive group types, but a group involved with the needs of everyone." One way the cabinet proposed to achieve their goal was by working to get increased, regular A.S.B. coverage in the school newspaper, Blazer.

As A.S.B. started out with the lowest budget in Muir history, another goal was to bring the A.S.B. budget back into workable condition. One solution was to have the Homecoming Dance at Morrison Hall with a disc jockey. As a result the Homecoming Dance took place at a cost $450.00 below its allotted budget.

The last major goal for A.S.B. this fall was to firmly establish all written codes, constitutions, and charters on campus to help make future years at John Muir a smooth course for better relations between A.S.B., the students and the faculty.

Despite the fact that Fall's A.S.B. had some set backs such as their budget, it was obvious that the cabinet had the discipline and derermination to meet their challenges and take the upper hand.

ASB: PRIDE AND DEDICATION

Members of the spring ASB Cabinet, under the leadership of President Jamie Walters, worked together efficiently for a great semester. Aside from the usual voting on requisitions and school activities, the Cabinet planned a successful Pride Assembly and John Muir Week. John Muir Week included a New-Wave Day, John Muir Nature Day, a Powder Puff Derby and Tug-O-War, and a conference to join Pacific League schools in better relations. Up-dating of files was continued, as well as planning the budget. New committees took action on fund-raising and the conditions of our bathrooms. Conditions were improved by repairing doors and painting the Girls bathrooms navy blue. A new Publicity Committee under Vice President Dana Treister improved communication between Muir and the Star News. The cooperation and efficiency of the entire Cabinet produced a super spring semester.

. . . ABRUPTLY END THE SEASON

It is a privilege to play in the CIF's post season tournament. Only the best teams from each league have this honor. There is one catch: one loss brings the season to an end.

If there was one game that we had to be ready for it was this one. The upset in the Rose Bowl made us hungry for a win. The Vikings of Hueneme, however, wanted it more.

Quarterback Dede Moore was sacked five times, and with him being contained, the Mustang offense was unable to function properly. The pass protection broke down and it was not until the fourth quarter when we finally scored. The final outcome was 14-6 in favor of Hueneme. The game and the season was lost, but the memories that the Unknown Soldiers brought us will always linger on.

1) Ricky Smith needs no help at all from Tony Nolen and Dave Ridenour, as he singlehandedly stops this Hueneme drive. 2) Dede Moore eludes a Hueneme defender en route to our only touchdown. 3) Corey Gilmore finds a big hole to gain a few more of his 88 yards.

Bump! Set! Spike! These are just a few of the important tactics that made the Girls' Volleyball teams into the toughest around. Varsity Coach, Ralph Fick, was behind his team at all times workin with them every afternoon. Team captain Denise Park always encouraged the team members in hard times. The Junior Varsity team was just as tough, despite many losses. The J.V.'s were led by veterans Kim Jones, Alison Irano and Audra Tillman.

The Cross Country Team started off very well this season with wins over Blair, Monrovia and Duarte. The team was led by Berick Triedler, Javier Figueroa and David James. During the League, their toughest competitions were against Arcadia and Crescenta Valley. The outlook is good for next year with only Berick graduating, still leaving nine runners to return. The Cross Country Coach, Mr. Altounian deserves credit for the great team.

NEW TALENTS HIT THE COURT

Since all of the Senior Varsity players graduated last year (obviously), the basketball team unfortunately lacked its usual offense and defense experience. However, through much determination and the encouraging spirit of the members of the Pep Squad, they developed a skill and potential that stood shining in their performance. This is something that will excel in the coming years.

Though their expertise was stillin the embryonic state, the Varsity team won surprising victories over San Gabriel, Crescenta Valley and Arcadia. The season was completed with a 4 win 6 loss record. The guys worked hard together and both Coach Clyde Turner and Coach John Davis are confident that the team will offer tougher competition in the next season.

J.V. AND SOPH-FROSH BASKETBALL . . . BREAKING AWAY!

The members of the J.V. and Soph-Frosh basketball teams could have spent their time hanging out with friends or eating junk food in front of a television. Instead they could be found in the gym practicing during sixth period and after school. The goal of the teams was to build character and playing ability in order to produce future varsity players. Coaches Talbert (J.V.) and Malouf (Soph-Frosh) agree that their teams reached that goal.

Led by Mark Hatcher, Kelvin Jankins, Alan Blades, and co-captains Billy Epps and McArthur Posey, Soph-Frosh opened competition with a second place finish in the P.H.S. Tourney. Well balanced scoring and a full court press helped Soph-Frosh to a 5-5 league record (16-8 overall), good for a third place tie. Utilizing teamwork and good hustle, J.V. started off with 9-2 preseason record. Only a late season defeat by Arcadia denied the Mustangs the league championship. Outstanding performances were turned in by Kevin Taylor, Bryan Robinson, Corey Gilmore, Todd Carter, Terry Scott, and Frank Valmonte.

THOSE GIRLS SURE CAN DRIBBLE!

Heads stretch forward in eager interest as the regiment of heart-pounding heroins speed across the court. Anticipation-bulged eyes stare as a lone figure painstakingly propels the orange sphere down through the net ordained hoop. Two Points! A rush of unexpressable joy brings the crowd to their feet, violent outbursts of exhaltation exploding from their panting lungs. The girls' basketball team was victorious. This is how their coach, Mr. Cash, felt after one of the many annialations of other teams on the league. Starting with a fantastic summer and pre-season, the girls worked temendously together during the games. They practiced everyday for a least three long, hard, grueling hours. One outstanding player was top-scorer Stacy Smith, who made second team All-League. Senior Yvonne Sebastian, an awe-inspiring rebounder, and sophomore Ann Duffy, the best in defense, both made honorable mentions in All-League. The future looks great for John Muir's Girls' Basketball Teams. Keep that ol' ball a bouncin'!

DEDICATION WAS THE KEY TO THEIR SUCCESS

With energy and dedication, the Boy's Tennis Team once again held high positions in both CIF and League. The spectacular Dana Triester and the inspirational Russ Nielsen led the Varsity Singles Team to a Victorious season with Ron Wood and Chris Robison backing them up. With continued great performances by Dana and Russ, Coach Vic Reyna feels that the League and CIF titles are easily within reach next year.

On the JV side, Tim Terell and Matt Peterson led the team to a strong season. Even with the absence of a full-time coach, this team has managed to conquer some of the most blood thirsty competition around.

Making up the Varsity Doubles Team were Kyle Smith and Chris Robison, John Kelley and David Ettinger, and John Hickambottom and Hugh Savage. Despite the fact that they were less experienced than some of their contenders, they held together and subdued some of the best.

A BIRD ON THE RACKET BEATS TWO IN THE NET.

With zest, determination, and a prayer, the badminton team started off the game year in early March and fought hard through to the end of the season. The team played such competitive schools as Rosemead, Canyon High, Saugus, Arcadia, P.H.S., and Alhambra. The team had many very good players such as Maria Strovall and Peggy Lee in girls doubles, with Troy Burrud and George Yates in boys doubles. The team's singles players really got swinging, preferably with their rackets, with talented players such as Carmen Reed, Grace Okida, Don Arkangel, Kean Oda, Dale Hozaki, and Jimmy Yamasaki. Some truly talented players such as Allan Yates, Jimmy Torres, Anthony Smiley, Jonny Morrison, and Susan Keverian are, as the saying goes, listed last, but in no way least in helping the team win many smashing victories. An interesting thing about badminton is that it has something in common with photography. In both you have to keep your eye on the birdie.

SWIMMERS LOOKING GOOD!

The season looked great! The swim team, coached by Walt Culbertson and Fred Bernthal, was charcterized by strength and duration among many other fine qualities. They worked long and hard to gain the strength and determination they needed to compete with tough competitiors. A strong emphasis was also placed on keeping in top physical condition.

The girls on the team definitely had strength. While competing with Glendale, Pam Racs finished first in the 500 yard race and swam an extra 50 yards. Mariko Ishihara, a freshman, swam with much skill and was compared with the quickest team members. The girl's water polo team placing third in league, also had a good season. On our boy's swim team, we were fortunate to have had some of the top swimmers in the league, Ken H O Kirani and Beef Andy Forney. These two awesome seniors have been top swimmers at Muir for the past three years.

NO HURDLE IS TOO HIGH

Tension builds. They're at their marks. With a bang, the girls track season starts off on the right foot. The coaches, Mrs. Bates and Mr. Clyde Turner, are both positive that their line of girls will leave no school without competition. There is even a great possibility that the girls track team will go to C.I.F. once more. Muir has been very fortunate, for the last few years now, to have talented track teams. Included in this seasons talent are Kim Snow, Karen Lee, Toni Murray, Eileen Penson and Claudinette Verela. Virtually, all of the valuable runners that were on the team last year are with us again. Any true track fan would have been sorry to have missed this season.

CHARIOTS OF FIRE

Track is one of the most successful sports at Muir. They were the defending CIF team for two years, Pacific League Champs, runner-up in California. The whole team contributed all they had, but the team was led by Coach Opp's "golden half dozen."

The golden half dozen consisted of Bernard Mathis, Berick Triedler, Terrance Parks, Dana Hill, Tommy Anderson, Ray Brown, and Jarrold Oatis. The team wasn't as strong as last year, but at the sound of the gun, they gave it all they could. All the stretching and practicing paid off, through the year. Their determination and team spirit gave them their confidence and turned out another great season.

JUNIORS

YAY!

NOW, SENIORS TOMORROW

THE PIECES FINALLY BEGIN TO FALL INTO PLACE

These crazy characters started the fabulous year off working at the Oktoberfest. With Dana Treister as Fall President, a great help to the juniors, and the courageous cabinet, the juniors pulled off a terrific Variety Show. As Homecoming came around, the class sold chocolate ice cream bars, making a huge sum of money. The Cabinet organized a successful chocolate sale which made the tooth fairy happy.

As the year strolled by, Liz Walser came into view with leadership and enthusiasm for the coming Senior year. Liz and her group of girls organized committees for their spectacular Senior year. Mr. Dumbauld was a tremendous support to the class. These juniors are on their way up.

WAS GEORGE ORWELL RIGHT?

Striving toward a better Senior Year in 1984, the Sophomores were off selling like crazy. Homecoming was something new. The class had a Dunking Booth in which many of the Sophomores got soaked. This class if very active with the help of their Advisor Mrs. Ivory. Mistletoe was sold at Christmas time. Following came the traditional crowning of the Sophomore Sweetheart King and Queen. It all began with the selection of 5 women and 5 men to form the Sophomore Sweetheart Court. As the process continued both Cabinets worked hard to make it happen. A reception was organized and a huge heart shaped cake was made for the King and Queen. An Assembly was also put on by the class so that the parents and relatives could see the crowning. A new event occurred at the Assembly when last year's entire Sophomore Sweetheart Court welcomed the new court. High spirits and dedication was within the hearts of the class of 1984. Eric Evans as Spring Pres. gathered and organized many activities such as Valentine Grams, and a Paper Drive. These Sophomores are on their way to a fantastic start for their Senior Year.

The Muir experience is unique. Where else could a person have friends from so many different cultures? The magic of this situation is that the color barrier is overcome. The value of a person is more important than the color of his skin. This is what life is all about.

PIECES BEGIN TO FALL INTO PLACE

As the freshmen entered school, they found it a place for fun and exciting experiences. Fall President Julie Salley and Spring President Tracey Tice led the Class of '85 towards its upcoming years at Muir. Mrs. Neuman and Mrs. Bruins guided them into a future of rewarding opportunities.

Freshmen were less shy than usual by getting involved in class activities. Two successful activities were the selling of candy apples at Homecoming and St. Patrick's Day Grams. Both Cabinets worked hard towards their senior year. Freshmen made a head start on Prom committees already, which shows their initiative and enthusiasm for the future.

A group (top left) of 9th grade beauties plan strategies for attracting males with deliberate seriousness. With (far left) resourcefulness and guidance, Mrs. Neuman served as advisor for ninth grades, Co-Advisor Mrs. Bruins is not pictured. Fall Cabinet (right) Vice Pres. Carolyn Walser, Pres. Julie Salley, Back row: Assoc. Just. Noel Rodriques, Treas. Laurie Vinlaun. Freshman (top center) entered into all phases of Muir activities, showing discipline and pride synonymous with Mustang tradition. "I'll (far right) take two of those pink ones and one of the pretty cream colored ones". Spring Cabinet (bottom right) left to right: Corres. Sec. Betty Nungary, Rec. Sec. Susie Pearson, Pres. WE HAVE CHANGED

We have changed,
We have grown, learned,
stretched forth our hands and minds, to discover.
We have stumbled sometimes, made many mistakes, but each mistake makes us wiser, stronger, more assured.

The road before us is long and unknown, but the road behind us is long too, and well known.
With that in hand, let us take a step forward.

The following people have made this year a little easier for me. If I have left someone's name out, I apologize. It's not possible to list all of the people that have helped me get by this year.

My family: who have put up with me through all of these years. I know I never say it, but I love you all.

It's not often you run into someone special,
who can make life more enjoyable,
who can understand you as few can,
and who can be your friend as well.
Thank you Peg.

I've hung in there for a long time. You've got to give me credit. You and I have only one life to live and we are lucky enough to share it together in the same life span. Don't pass me up or let me slip by without giving me a chance. No matter what happens I'll always love you. I wish you good luck and most of all happiness for the future.

Craig: thanks for being one of my best buddies. You were always there when I needed to talk. You helped me more than I can say. Good luck with Karen in the future.
Ken: for being an all around buddy. You pulled me through yearbook and deserve more credit than you got. You're a lucky guy to have someone like Erin. Have fun with her in the future.
Randy: thanks for cheering me up all the times I was down. You're friendship means a lot. Good luck with all the ladies that will come your way in the future.
Steve O: for being an inspirational buddy. I know you'll succeed because you've got a lot of potential. Good luck with Brenda. I never told you before, but I admire you.
Chatra J: thanks for being a friend, I wish you lots of luck at USC. Don't party to hard!
Andre H: thanks for all the help in my classes. Good luck in basketball next year and don't get lazy like I did in my senior year.

Mark: you've been a cool buddy since the 7th or 8th grade. Stay cool bro. Good luck with Rachie.
Dickie: you're a cool buddy but you need to understand and listen to your friends. Thanks for all the good laughs. Good luck with the ladies.
Art H: You got a bad ZX. Don't crash it!
Henry N: Why are you so cool?
George S: Thanks for being there when I needed to talk. You're one cool brother. Take it easy with the ladies. Peggy says "hi".
Paul H: thanks for being cool to me. We should play some hoop more often. Take it easy.
Rico "Magic" Walker: thanks for helping me tget through compurer lab. Take it easy this summer.
Some friends from work: Leely, Lorena, Tammy, and Gail.
Rachel F: I may not have shown it but I value your friendship too. Thanks for caring about me. Have fun with Markie in the future.
Carla A: I use to talk to you in my early years at Muir. I don't know what happened, but I rarely see or talk to you anymore. Anyway, good luck in the future.
Carmen B: thanks for being a cool friend. We had fun in yearbook. (I think). Good luck in whatever you do.
Stephanie D: thanks for listening when I had something to say. Good luck in the future though I know you'll succeed without me wishing you luck.
Cindy H: You're a cool young lady. I hope you and Kenny have fun in the future.
Brenda L: I wish you the best of luck with Steve.
Erin T: Too bad you're not graduating with us. That's alright cause I'll see you with Ken. Hope you two have fun in the future.
Karen T: or is it Karen C? Whatever. Anyway, thanks for caring about me. I wish you and Craig all the happiness. Good luck in the future.
Mr. Montoya and Key Club.

p.s. dont forget me over the summer! (I wont forget you)

To Kira,
a nice person whom unfortunately I had to meet (just kidding) no, but it was a trip knowing you for real. We had happy times, you were one day or another but you will not discuss unpredictable. but we're not, will we? The changes in your attitude, nice & hot summer. All I got to say is have a nice together. Try not to I hope you and "Ronny Bear" get back together, maybe? this time I'll get to meet him finally. Only a work so hard [illegible] over the summer with Ronny. do be tired out when you are finished you two will after you get back on the summer what you have a We'll [illegible] the future and I hope all your plans ass for [illegible] eventually comes true. signing out your friend Rachel "Bekkis" Rat & Shorty

Chaos of 83?

Hey Kira,
Its been some what nice knowing you this year with your whats ups in your boring letter NO T.K. I really don't remember how we met or when but I've been sorry ever since that day NO T.K.
Seriously though, we are going to have a nice summer this year, I'm sure you will keep in touch. W.W and M&M is definitely on the list in the plans this summer. Save all your money this summer so next year when schools in you can eat lunch. T.K.
you are a very nice and unexplainable person and I doubt if there's another like you (thank god) but keep cool in your new swimming pool and during the summer, stay sweet not pretty now but sweet in personality.

Always Tracy Session

Kira,
When we first met, I thought, "She must be one of those know-it-alls, but I'll put her in her place." But now that I've gotten to know you, You're really not that smart at all. Just kidding. I really, really, really, really hope I see you this summer cause I'll probably be bored as you know what. Well, got to go and remember. I live in the valley but in a really good part of Encino. I'm sure. Have a rad summer. FOR SURE Whats been going on? Well, I guess its about that time for us to say good-bye. I know you've enjoyed my company, for being in your first period (kidding). Always remember power and desire is the key to success and always go for what you want no matter what it takes and dont let anyone stand in your way.

Kira, if you ever forget me, I will come back and just do something awful to you (kidding)
Anyway, stay sweet + nice and all of that good stuff.
